

Quick Start Guide to Artifcts

You've got 'stuff' with memories and stories that are meaningful to you, and you're interested in creating an Artifcts collection. Now what?

1. Go to the Artifcts Website or App

- Visit Artifcts from your computer
Open a web browser (e.g. Chrome, Safari, Edge) and go to Artifcts at Artifcts.com.
- Download the app to your phone or tablet

→ Check out our FAQs (artifcts.com/faq) for additional tips, set up, and troubleshooting information.

2. Join Artifcts Free

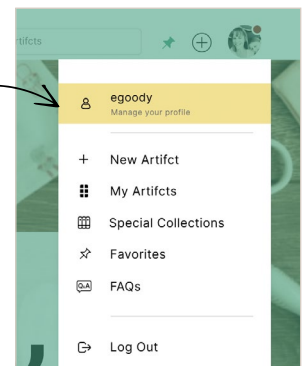

'Start free!' is our easy, zero obligation option to begin Artifcting.

- Register. Use your personal email address and a password, or register with your Google, Apple, or Facebook account.
- Validate your account. You must validate your email to complete your registration. Check the email account associated with the email you provided or that is linked to your third-party account. Click the confirmation link, and you're ready to go!

3. Prepare Your Account for Action (Optional)

Navigate to your Account Settings to quickly make and/or change a variety of selections to customize your experience.

- Photo, banner, and 'About me.' Use a photo and banner with your account so that when others share Artifcts with you, they will recognize instantly that it is you! You can also share a bit about yourself so others can get to know you.
- Legacy contact. What if you're gone tomorrow? Who should inherit your Artifcts? You can choose primary and secondary Legacy Contacts.
- 'Always share with.' Sharing each Artifct with the same person is tedious. Grant specific individuals access automatically to view the Artifcts you create.
- Create a network. Shared Artifcts have special powers, whether shared with family and friends, estate lawyers, or insurance agents. Import contacts from your personal email or add individuals one by one, making it easier to share Artifcts, create sharing lists and invite-only circles, and invite others free to Artifcts. How-to tips >

→ If you have purchased a Concierge Package, a member of the Artifcts Team will help you through these steps!

4. Create an Artifct

For each Artifct you create, you will need a photo, video, or audio snippet along with a few details about it.

Each Artifct only needs:

- One media file. But you can include up to five photos, videos, or audio files to capture different angles or details or related items and events.
- Name. This can be literal ("Mom's piano") or more like a headline ("That Time She Tried Hockey")
- Category (What is it?). Type to search categories like "Recipe" or "Toy." Unsure? Choose 'Other Artifacts' and move on.
- Story, memory, or description of any length. Stuck on what to write about your Artifct? Check out these tips >
- Country. You can always choose unknown/not relevant.
- Bonus! Paid members can also add up to three documents (receipt, warranty, certificate of authenticity, appraisal, original photo file, etc.). > Continued on page 2

→ Audio files accelerate Artifcting. Recording a story right on your phone (or a free app on your computer or tablet) and adding it to your Artifct can make creating Artifcts faster and add all sorts of fascinating details. Plus, people love to hear the voice of the original Artifct creator! How-to tips >

Have more details? Great!

- When you're in edit mode, at the top of the Artifact form, choose 'Full form' to add the artist, shop or market, date purchased, weight, dimensions, and more!
- Dimensions and weight are especially helpful if you are Artifcting before moving, placing items into storage, adding pieces to an insurance policy, or requesting a valuation or appraisal.

Before you click 'Save.'

- Add custom tags. Tags act like instant folders, because you can click a tag on any saved Artifact and it will show you all your Artifacts with that same tag. Use it for places, family branches, schools, jobs, or even tag a recipe #dessert.
- Privacy. Your Artifact is private by default. Do you want to make your new Artifact public? If yes, click the toggle to change to public.

Privacy First, But the Choice Is Yours!

After you create your Artifact, you will have options to immediately view and share your new Artifact.

- If your Artifact is private and you want to share it, type to enter an email or Artifacts screen name along with an optional message. If you have imported contacts to build your network, you can also just type a friend's name and select from the options that appear.
- If you make your Artifact public, you may also choose to share it in social media. On the Artifacts app, you can also choose to 'share a link' for public Artifacts and share it by text message, email, and Facebook Messenger, for example, too.

→ If you want to share your Artifact and aren't sure whom to share with, share with our founders! @heather and @egoody love receiving Artifacts – the best gifts!

Decrypting Icons.

Here's a quick list of the most common icons you'll encounter at Artifacts.

 Create new Artifact. Look for this to instantly open a form to create a new Artifact.

 Share. Your sharing options vary depending on whether the Artifact is public and your access permissions to the Artifact.

Privacy. Artifacts may be:

 Private, viewable only by you, the owner

 Semi-private, viewable only by the owner and select others

 Public, viewable by anyone who accesses Artifacts.com.

 Pin. Favorite Artifacts that you want quick access to.

 Follow. You will receive an alert when a person you follow gives you access to a new Artifact. You cannot see who follows you on Artifacts.

View style. As you browse your Artifacts or other Artifacts, you can choose the view style you prefer.

 List  Flipbook
 Tile  Timeline

 Invite-Only Circle. Each lets all members of the circle view Artifacts others share with the circle.

 List. To simplify sharing, you can create sharing lists, e.g. best friends, immediate family, and classmates.

 Download. Click and then select your preferred format: PDF, Excel, CSV or a ZIP containing all the Artifacts' details, media files, and documentation.

 Create QR Code. Link your physical item to your digital Artifact by printing a QR code or adding a sticker. Scan and view the story!

 Edit. You will only see this icon if you have edit privileges to a resource.

 Delete. When clicked, we'll ask if you're sure, before we then permanently the resource.

 Silence Member. Clicking 'Silence' removes Artifacts from a specific Arti Member from your feed.

 Report Member. Clicking 'Report' and completing the form alerts Artifacts to a potential violation of its community terms.

 Alert. Alerts related to your Artifcting network and updates from Artifacts, all available by email, too.

Flipbook View of an Artifact

Many of the Artifacts icons are on display here in this Artifact. Did you know that categories, tags, and screen names (e.g., @egoody) are clickable? Try it! And be sure to try 'What's it worth?'

The screenshot displays the Artifacts website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'SERVICES', 'INSPIRATION', and 'ARTIFACTS A TO Z'. The main content area shows a flipbook view of an artifact. The artifact is titled 'Our Cape Cod Whale Tale' by @egoody. It features a large image of a black pennant with 'OH WHALE' written on it. The text of the artifact describes a whale watching experience in Cape Cod. The interface includes various interactive elements like search bars, filters, and a 'What's it worth?' button. The footer contains navigation links for 'ARTIFACTS A TO Z', 'INSPIRATION', 'SERVICES', and 'MANAGE ACCOUNT', along with social media icons and a sign-up form.

Our Cape Cod Whale Tale

@egoody Follow

Day one in Cape Cod was all about Classic Cape Cod. But on day two, @Heather, @HazelBasil, @VGoody, and I headed offshore to go whale watching. A great first for those of us NOT from the Cape! We set sail at 9 am from Provincetown, or Ptown in local slang. It's at the northern tip of the Cape, which confusingly locals also refer to as "down Cape."

Categories Life's Moments: Firsts Life's Moments: Memorabilia

After three hours sailing with Provincetown Whale Watching (https://whalewatch.com/), we scrambled for a lobster lunch at the Lobster Pot (https://www.pot.com), a bit of shopping, and some relaxation at Point Beach. It's one of few (only?) beaches open to swimming near the ocean side of the National Seashore (https://www.nps.gov/caco/index.htm) due to shark activity elsewhere.

It was a delightful day around the Cape.

5. Having Fun? Become a Member to Expand and Curate Your Collection

We offer two annual membership options.

- Arti Lite. Not sure how many Artifacts you'll be creating? Start with Lite. It will also unlock features, such as adding documentation and requesting free valuations.
- Arti Unlimited. This membership provides the additional benefit of three Unlimited memberships to give to friends or family so you can enjoy Artifacts and story-sharing together.

As a paid Artifacts member, you will receive invites to Arti Events and can also purchase Concierge Packages to help get started, accelerate your Artifacts (ahead of a move, for example), or to ensure you're capturing the most information possible with each Artifact.

Bundle and save! You can purchase a membership bundled with a 90-minute virtual concierge session to help you get started worry free! Look for the bundle option at checkout!

6. No Need for Regret or Perfection as You Artifact

We not only remove the story burden — use 5 words or 500, your memories, your stories, your choice — but we make it easy to manage your collection your way!

- Do not overthink it — you can always edit! This is not a scrapbook, journal, or photo book that you complete and it's done. You can add more and refine other details later. Simply open any Artifact, click 'Edit,' make your changes, and click 'Save.'
- Wish you had kept your Artifact private? We cannot erase the Internet, but you can certainly always change an Artifact back to private. Simple click on the Privacy icon, and toggle back to private.
- Want to upgrade your membership? Visit the membership management section of your Account Settings. You will be charged an upgrade fee for the remainder of your membership year.
- Love Artifacts, but want to cancel? Before you go, we will strongly encourage you to download your Artifacts (to Excel, CSV, PDF, or ZIP) so that you can keep those memories.

→ You can also give Artifacts memberships as gifts. They're perfect for people who already have everything and won't get hung up in supply chain and delivery delays.

→ Artifacts.com and the Artifacts app are transparent and respect your privacy. There are no hidden or confusing fees. No ads. Security comes first. And we never sell your personal data.
